CIVIL WAR HAS BEEN AVERTED.

Party Leaders in Kentucky Have Agreed on a Compromise.

Associated Press Dispatches by

The Tribune's Special Leased Wire
LOUISVILLE, Feb. 6.—A peace conference held at the Gault House last night between seven representatives of the Republican party and seven representatives of the Democratic party resulted in the signing of an agreement embodying six specific propositions which promise a settlement of the party differences which have brought about two State governments in Kentucky. This agreement is in substance as follows:

First.—That a General Assembly in joint session shall adopt a resolution ratifying their recent action adopting the contest reports sealing Geobel and Beckham, the contestants, W. S. Taylor and John Marshall, shall submit without further proceedings.

Second.—That all parties shall unite in an effort to bring about such a modification of the election law as will provide for non-partisan election boards and insure free and fair elections.

NO CHANGE TILL MONDAY.

Third.—That the conditions shall remain in status quo until Monday, the General Assembly meeting and adjourning from day to day, and thus giving time for the Fourth.—That nothing shall be done to hinder or prevent a joint session of the General Assembly for taking action on the ratification resolution.

Fifth.—That the State Contest Board shall be adjourned until Monday to await Tuesday without holding any session on the contests for minor State offices.

This postponement is suggested in order that the action of the General Assembly on the ratification resolutions may be taken first.

Sixth.—That the State troops shall be removed from the State Capitol at once, though with all necessary precautions for the public safety. This matter is to be under the direction of General Dan Lindsey, say of Frankfort.

Seventh.—That the Republican officials and others of the State Guard shall have immediate charge of treason, usurpation, court martial or any other such offenses.

SIGNED THE AGREEMENT.

The agreement was signed by the following Republicans—John Marshall, Judge W. B. Barr, General Dan Lindsey, T. L. Edelin, Dr. T. H. Baenter, David W. Fairhurst, T. E. Dickey, J. C. Dickey, Douglas, J. G. S. Blackburn, Sam J. Shuckford, Urey Woodson, James B. McCreary, Phil Thompson, Robert J. Breckinridge.

The agreement in full was not given out, but it was understood that it was to submit it to Governor Taylor for his signature. It was stated by the Republicans present that Governor Taylor would agree to anything that all of them signed. It was stated in the conference that the action of the General Assembly would be called off at once.

The conference began at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and lasted until 3:30 this morning, when typewriter was sent for and the agreement was prepared and signed.

Tuesday morning, while the situation is in status quo, Governor Taylor will remain in possession of the executive buildings, while the Republicans will recognize him and the Democrats will recognize Governor Taylor as Governor.

After the conference, Governor Rockham at once took a train for Frankfort Senator Blackburn and Ex-Governor McCready remained in Louisville tonight.

The course of events in the immediate future depends largely upon Governor Taylor.

An important influence in shaking the Republican polity has been, no doubt, the lack of support from the national Administration for the cause pursued by Governor Taylor since he assumed office.

RELIEF AT FRANKFORT.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 6.—The news of the agreement reached last night at Louisville was received with gratification in Frankfort. The strain of the last ten days has been very great, and any lessening of the tension was most welcome to the members of both parties, a single member of the Legislature, Democrat or Republican, is in the city, and none is expected before late in the afternoon or tomorrow.

Governor Taylor refused to discuss the agreement until it has been brought to him, but he did not believe right nor courteous for him to do so. He, however, made the assertion that if the Geobel law is repealed and an election given to the people of Kentucky to decide the merits of fair and honest counting of the votes, as he will allow no personal ambition of his own to stand in the way of a peaceful adjustment of the trouble.

Gov. Taylor and Mr. Sweeney, the Republican attorney general, from Louisville at 10:30 o'clock, got into the lobby of Louisville being with them. They had the agreement and carried it at once to Governor Taylor's office, and the door was closed.

It was generally believed that Governor Taylor will accept the agreement.

GOV. TAYLOR UNDECIDED.

At 11:30 o'clock Governor Taylor said he would make no public statement regarding his attitude toward the resolution of the Louisville conference before tomorrow.

WILL APPOINT MAN OF LARGE AFFAIRS

One Hundred Men Want to Succeed the Late Chas. Kramm.

Mayor Will Go Over List For a Big Man.

Major Snow was asked this morning as to whether or not he had decided as to whom he would appoint as Councilman-at-Large to succeed Charles Kramm, deceased. He declined to speak save in general tones on the subject.

"I desire," he said, "to appoint as Councilman-at-Large, to succeed Mr. Kramm, deceased, one of the largest men of affairs in the city of Oakland. Such men are likely to refuse. But the list will be practically exhausted before I shall consider any other names."

Major Snow has in his possession over a hundred letters received since Mr. Kramm's death, written by people who are anxious to succeed to the vacant position, or by others who are supporting applicants for the position. Some of these missives are lengthy and tiresome, voluminous enough to fill half a page of THE TRIBUNE.

Deal in Horses That

Deal of Fun.

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—Judge Ellsworth of Superior Court yesterday afternoon sustained the decision rendered by Justice Edgar against the proceedings brought by the town of Berkeley to compel him to pay money collected by him as fines for violation of town ordinances, into the town treasury.

This decision will be a blow to the temperance people of Berkeley, who have agreed to make good to the town the $1,500 deficit caused by the doing away with the town's saloon.

Had the decision been favorable to the town, and if the Superior Court upholds the decision of the Justice Court in the liquor cases, about $4,000, which, after the present decision, will go to the county, would have been turned into the town treasury.

In this case no deficit would have occurred, and the temperance people would consequently not have been held to their bargain.

BODY BROUGHT HOME.

The body of Bruno Lane Puziker, who died in the Philippines nearly a year ago, has just been brought to this port on the Government transport Ohio, which docked at San Francisco yesterday.

Doors were open of Alba Puziker of 2800 Telegraph avenue. When the call for volunteers came, young Puziker enlisted in Battery K of the Third Artillery.

With his company he went to the Philippines, where his death occurred as the result of an accidental shot from the gun of one of his companions.

The family have had the remains brought back from Manila.

A private funeral will be held at the funeral parlors in Oakland to which the body will be removed, and interment will then take place in the family burying ground in Mountain View Cemetery.

TOOK THE WRONG HORSE.

A good story is going the rounds in which H. J. Deane is alleged to have been the central figure.

Mr. Deane recently purchased a horse from George Gordon, who disposed of his farm in that town. At the same time another man purchased a buggy and set of harness from Mr. Gordon, who agreed to leave the rig hitched to a shed adjoining one of the hotel. The first to come to town was to take the rig, leaving his fellow purchaser's pony at his house.

At the time appointed Mr. Gordon left the rig at the designated spot, and boarded a train for San Francisco.

A few minutes later Mr. Giddings, who is living on the old Lincoln, drove up, and leaving his horse in the stable started up town to make some purchases.

Now Mr. Giddings' horse, at first appeared, accidentally resembles that of Mr. Gordon, so Deane supposed.

Giddings happened along a short time afterwards, and bought the animal for the one which he had just purchased.

As he backed the horse out of the stable, however, he noticed that it was hitched in the wrong end out in the light the creature also appeared in much poorer condition than the horse he thought he was buying, and as he hurriedly returned the animal to the shed, while his friends enjoyed a good laugh at his expense.

TUESDAY.....FEBRUARY 6, 1900.

Brazil is credited with wanting a slice of Bolivia. This is the sort of "desire for piece" that is causing all the powers to increase their armaments.

The author of "After the Ball Is Over" is said to have cleared up $100,000 with the song. He should be fined twice that amount for disturbing the world's peace with it.

The extra session seems to have filled the "aching void" and "long-felt want" on the Senatorial issue. The Democrats and not the Republicans will have those predicted regrets that it was ever called.

The next man who can be prevailed upon to accept a San Francisco Police Commissionership will have to feel that he was made to order and handed down from the skies before he takes the chances.

It is now claimed that San Jacinto mountain in San Bernardino county is an active volcano. What those Southern boomers don't think of so as to keep tourists heading in their direction is not worth bothering about.

Californians will in future have to be careful about making quotations and crediting them to the "immortal bard." If they don't there are liable to be some complications regarding our Senatorial representative from Hueneme.

Roberts' troubles are not ended, for a Deputy Sheriff awaits his return to Salt Lake to serve him with a warrant charging him with bigamy. The Mormon politician has evidently a long way to go yet before he gets through with the ill effects that resulted from his attempt to sit in Congress.

THE NEW NAVY.

The growth of the United States navy is more rapid than the majority of people imagine. Within the next five years, when the vessels now in the process of construction or being designed have been completed, we will be a formidable ocean power. Our naval force now consists of five battleships, the Iowa, Indiana, Massachusetts, Oregon, and Texas; two armored cruisers, the New York and Brooklyn; thirteen steel-protected cruisers, the Columbia, Minneapolis, Olympia, Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Newark, San Francisco, New Orleans, Cincinnati, Raleigh, Atlanta, and Boston; eight unprotected steel cruisers, the Detroit, Montgomery, Marblehead, Buffalo, Badger, Dixie, Yankee, and Yosemite; twelve wood and iron cruisers, four double-turreted and twelve single-turreted monitors, twenty steel and composite gunboats, twelve torpedo-boats, the ram Katahdin, the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, and thirty supply ships and colliers. Army transports and the captured Spanish cruisers in the Philippines not included.

There are now in course of construction fifty-three additional warships in which are included the battleships Kentucky, Kearsarge, Alabama, and Illinois now awaiting armament. Added to this list are six other vessels authorized by Congress and for the construction of which designs are now being prepared. One cruiser has already been completed in England and a full rigged sailing vessel for the naval academy is nearing completion in a Boston shipyard. This gives an additional number of sixty-one vessels of all grades to be added to the present naval force in commission, bringing the total effective fighting navy vessels up to 101 craft of all descriptions. When the vessels now in various stages of construction and authorized are completed the United States navy will have sixteen battleships, eight large armored cruisers (which may be classified as second-rate battleships), twenty-three protected cruisers, eight un-protected steel cruisers, eight modern double-turreted monitors, twenty-two gunboats, thirty-seven torpedo-boats, and sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers.

From our experience in the war with Spain in which the navy took the leading and most conspicuous part our sea forces can be depended upon to guard American interests in every part of the globe, and with the addition of the new war vessels the nation will be in a position to regard with complacency the final outcome of whatever may arise in the way of warfare.

A SENATORIAL RETROSPECT.
The Republicans of California are to be congratulated upon the outcome of the extra session of the State Legislature. Not alone has the party secured a representative to sit in the United States Senate in the person of Stephen M. White, but the factional strife that has been waging for the past thirteen months and which threatened to have a serious effect upon campaigns in the immediate future has been happily ended.

No matter what likes or dislikes entered into the question of the selection of a Senator at the time the fight was in progress, the hatchets have all been buried now and the Republican party rises Phoenix-like from the funeral pyre where burn the ambitions of those who were sacrificed, pure and free from the malodors engendered by the personal warfare. United, stronger than ever for many years past, it will stand before the people the synonym of the best results to be obtained from politics, and from now on it will meet its partisan opponents with a solid front that will be the more invincible by reason of the fact that not a weak spot exists in it.

Colonel Daniel M. Burns proved that he was Republican to the core and valued party more than he did self when on finding that the way would be cleared for the election of his opponent if he removed his forces, he not only did so, but requested his men to fall in and march beneath the banner of his erstwhile antagonist, and when he called upon his rival from the south and placing his right hand in his, congratulated him and wished him well, he scattered to the four winds all the possibilities of continued factional strife that Democrats and mischief-makers had been endeavoring to foment from the moment they foresaw the outcome of the contest. Col. Burns made a gallant and clean-handed fight and though his colors went down in defeat they were unsullied by the stand of dishonorable methods. Those who were fighting with him stood by his side to the last and the only regret that they have are the natural ones that the man of their choice was not successful.

Thomas R. Eard of Hueneme, the Senator-elect, is tried however in every way to fill the high office that has fallen to his lot. His record is clean and unassailable; he is a patriotic Republican, a good citizen, a brave man of affairs and an honorable, upright gentleman who will do credit to the great State he is to represent at the nation's capital. He was selected because of all the candidates, he was the only one who had no enemies attempting to destroy his reputation or baffle his honor and he will take his seat in the upper branch of Congress with the rare distinction of being absolutely the choice of all the varied elements of the Republican party in his home State. He commences his labors under the most favorable auspices possible, and THE TRIBUNE joins with the rest of the Republicans of California in wishing him success and God-speed in his new career.

Our fellow citizens in the icy wilds of Alaska are pleading with the Government to send them more reindeer. In view of what befel the last consignment, it may be remarked that there are also a few people in this part of the country who would like diamond scarf pins and automobiles, and it is to be hoped that the Federal authorities will bear them in mind when the Government is distributing its favors.

In the estimation of the average Democratic editor, a patriotic statesman should have mated hair, long and unkempt whiskers, and patches on his nether garments. At least, that is the idea they convey with their policy of assailing every one in the Republican party who has a dollar to spare—the Examiner's sneer at Senator-elect Bard, for instance.

A scientist declares that, California abounds in archaeological curiosities. Indeed it does—some ruins of the sularian age are still to be found alive and kicking in various parts of the State, and we would gladly dispose of them as a job-lot.

Senator McClymonds tells what he would do if he were a Filipino. The Tagals can thank Providence for having been spared such an affliction—they have troubles enough.

Mutual Benefit Club. The Mutual Benefit Club serves its members every day with a wholesome luncheon from 11 till 2 P. M., in the club rooms, corner of Thirteenth and Jefferson. Though in no sense a social club, nor designed to compete with the Woman's Exchange, the luncheon privileges are open to non-members on payment of 10 cents monthly. Other ladies who desire may also share the hospitality on payment of the charge.

"Indeed, it is not as pleasant as one might think to be a great matinee favorite," said Benjamin Howard, leading man in the Macdonough Stock Company. "A matinee favorite you have to meet a series of characters. Occasionally you meet that character in the song who says she is willing to leave her happy home for you."

The Girl Who Would Leave Her Happy Home For Actor Benjamin Howard at the Macdonough.

"As a matinee favorite," continued Mr. Howard, "I hold a certain prestige which of course, I enjoy. I do not allow people to break in on my work on the stage. Sometimes you will see stage struck girls actually trying to break in on the stage."

Trying to Break Into the Macdonough to See the New Matinee Favorite.

"Yes, it is sad to contemplate how many girls are stage struck," observed Actor Benjamin Howard. "They all seem to think they can sing, dance or act. If you tell them they are not fitted for the stage they are ready to give you the ax."

WOMAN WHO GATHERED UP THE NUGGETS.

Comes Back From the Klondike With Bags of Gold.

Remarkable Work of Mrs. Woods in the Frozen North.

Mrs. M. L. Woods, one of the pioneer Klondikers who has spent the last five years in that country, arrived in his city this morning. She has just completed the sale of a couple of claims to Captain Kimball of San Francisco for $10,000, and will return to the Klondike for a few days, and return to Seattle from which point she expects to sail for Cape Nome on the 25th of this month.

Mrs. Woods is tall and of striking appearance, and is possessed of a heroic and physical constitution, enabling her to endure the hardships of the north. She has several children now living in California, one of her daughters having recently graduated at Stanford University.

In an interview with a TRIBUNE reporter this morning, she said:

"I went into the Yukon region about five years ago, and was at Circle City when that place was enjoying its boom. I didn't go there to mine but thought that if I could get something to do, such as housekeeping or typewriting. But there was nothing to do. I had $500 and went to mining."

"There has not been a stampede in that region but that I have been among the first to go to the new diggings. Like all the rest of them I went mad when the news of the strike came, and my money all went. I have now worked all the way down from the head of Forty Mile Creek and now own the Jack Wade claim No. 7 below, on that stream."

"When the Dawson boom began I was among the first on the ground. I had $1,000 in gold placed but failed to record it. Mr. Hall, who now owns it, has found it a regular bonanza."

"When we first went to Dawson we didn't know anything about the Klondike. Though I lived just across that stream in Dawson City, I did not know its name, and where the people began to stream in from the States, we outsiders really wouldn't tell them where to go to find the Klondike."

"When we came down to the Cape Nome district it was an awful place. The climate is the most disagreeable one in the world. There is a continual fog which is sometimes so thick that many people get lost. In fact it is unsafe to travel around even close to the coast, without a guide."

"The Japanese current passing at that point keeps the sea from sweeping over, and all the year round the cold winds come sweeping in off the icy water. During the winter huge icebergs are continually breaking up."

"It is awful to think of the suffering that the rush to that district next spring will cause. People have no idea what they are going into and take loads of things for which there is not easily used."

"As you see, notes not only take a pair of foot, but by the time you get there there will be thousands of tons of ore, visions which can be bought for less than the transportation costs. What people want to take is plenty of good clothes, just as we did when we left. Rubber boots are of no use and when worn become useless after five years that I have had them on. Up there you have to wear the narrow boots made out of rawhide with walrus skin soles."

Mrs. Woods prophesied a great deal of trouble for the ownership of claims in the Cape Nome districts as many of them have been taken by three or four different people.

The chief cause of the trouble is the absence of all landmarks and the scarcity of timber with which to stake off the claims.

Most of them are marked simply by a pile of sod and stones in which a little writing describing the claim and its owner is concealed. Unprincipled people can easily destroy these bounds, however, and then lay claim to the ground. Much of this has been done.

Mrs. Woods thinks that the beach claims will soon be worked out but that the low hills and streams for fifty miles back to those who continue to turn out traps to where to look with the bravest and endurance necessary to wade through the slush and mud and endure the hardships. She tells of how large sections of the country have been taken up by proxy by great companies, such as the A. T. & T., the A. C. and by many rich individuals.

"Why?" she said. "I was present last summer when Charles Lane, the San Francisco millionaire, agreed to pay a lot of Dumetaux and Indians $90,000 to get them to stake claims for him. Of course this is not lawful, but money is a power up there."

"Mr. Lane," she continued, "he piping to bring water from the Nome river to Dexter Creek, where I have claims."

"There is the great drawback to mining in that country and that could only be overcome the output of gold would be tremendous."

"There will, perhaps, be 30,000 people rush in there next spring, one thousand of whom will die from disease and exposure. When we were there last November there were from 100 to 200 men and hundreds of people from Dawson were coming weekly. At that time seventeen wrecks were lined up on the beach back of my cabin which was in the central portion of the town."

"Men can be employed in any number at all times."

Mrs. Woods has just sold some claims for $10,000 and expects to return to Cape Nome on the 25th of this month.

"You have a beautiful country here," she said, "but like it up there. Note Cape Nome, for the winter there is horrible, but on the Yukon. The scenery is grand and the flowers are the most beautiful I ever saw."

"But oh, do tell the people who are going to Cape Nome this spring what an awful time they must expect."
